We have another

and will send it

The sisters look like her.

In 2008, I was corresponding with a cousin, Nita Jacobson Chewning, wife of Allen Chewning, who was son of Austin Raymond 'Bill' Chewning. Uncle Bill was my grandmother's brother (Letha Florence Chewning Downes). They were great grandchildren of Granville Washington and Mary Ann Hanvey Chewning.

Nita gave me great amounts of information. This is from an email she sent me in 2008:

Mary Frances grew up on a farm in Clark County, Missouri. At age 23 was married to William Noe. They stayed in Clark County for a time, but soon moved to another county. The letter written by her sister Elizabeth (Bettie). Expressed the hope that they would move back to Union Twp. where the other family members lived, rather than to go to Oregon.

In the letter Elizabeth hoped that Mary Frances and Will would send a likeness of son Johnny to them. Johnny had been born in 1863 in Lafayette, Missouri. The next child, David Sampson, was born in Lyon County, Nevada in Aug. 1866. Probably the trip west was commenced early in 1866, but rumors of the move must have circulated among family members for several years.

Mary Frances was a very strong woman and a person of great courage. To undergo the hardships of traveling in a covered wagon from Missouri to California demonstrates qualities of bravery and fortitude.

After reaching California they went to Monterey and from there to Oregon.

Mary Frances loved to smoke a pipe it seems as many of the Chewing women did.

Mary Frances stayed in contact with the Missouri Chewnings for a great number of years. It is not known whether or not there was any communication with brother John's son Marion Francis and his family who moved to Oregon in 1900.

Ruth Eubanks

Ruth gave me so very much information that could be picked up and worked with. She gave memories of MMJ and her children and the hard times that were had by all of the family.

Information from Bob Ladd on March 4 2000 states that Mary Frances was at Santa Cruz County, CA, in 1874 and died at Gold Hill, OR, on March 24, 1928.

Mary F. died at the home of her daughter Mrs. F.M. Armstrong (Julia Noe Armstrong) where she had lived for the last seven years of her life.

Julia, Mary's daughter, had also put that Mary F. birth date was Aug. 27th, 1840 and was 87 years 5 months and 7 days old when she died. There has been found notes written by William P. Noe that she was born in 1839. These notes are in the possession of Bob Ladd.

It is hard to try and figure out who was right in such a case. both were so very close to Mary F. So who would be right. I would have to say that the information on the death cert would be the legal records. Although it may be different then family notes.

Family records show Mary Frances was born 8/24/1839, Neeper, Clark, MO, and died 3/24/1928, in Yamhill County, OR.

Her death cert says she died in Dundee, Yamhill, OR.

Son Leland? David? was born in Nevada in 1866.

Daughter Mary Elizabeth Betty was born in California in 1869, as were the rest of the children.

Stephen A. Douglass Chewning, Mary's brother, had a son, Everard, who was born in Santa Cruz in 1867.

Martha Noe, William's sister, was married in Carson City, Nevada, in 1866.

Apparently the family emigrated to Nevada by 1866, the birth of son David. Nita's information says that David was born in Lyon County, Nevada 8/1866. In this email from Nita, there was a letter from Mary's sister Elizabeth (Bettie/Betsy) Chewing asking Mary to send a likeness of their son Johnny back to Union twp. Johnny had been born in Missouri in 1863. This email goes on to say that Mary Frances was a very strong woman, and of great personal courage. They traveled in a covered wagon from Missouri to California, demonstrating bravery and fortitude.

5/2017: I don't have the email to which I refer above, but I wrote this years ago concerning communication from Nita. I am particularly curious that I wrote years ago that Nita referred to their son as David Sampson. I had forgotten this, but find that interesting in light of the fact that I cannot find out what was the name of their second son – was is Leland S? Leland Sampson? David L? David Sampson? Louis Sampson????

I didn't copy it here, but there is a long list of attendees at a ball in Lexington; William Know is listed.

Ball at Lexington.

A ball was given last Monday evening week at the town hall, in Lexington, by the officers of the Alma Lime Company. The ball was well managed. At twelve o'clock the dancers partook of a supper at Paddock's Hotel. After supper the dancers again, after several speeches had been made by J. G. Floyd, John Stewart and others, continued their dancing until nearly 5 o'clock. Among those present were the following: Miss

Sons John Monday Noe, and Louis Sampson?? Noe (if that's indeed Leland S) are on the 1888 register. The 1888 register says that William registered in 1882, John in 1884, and Louis Sampson Know in 1888.

Notice that William is in Toro, John in Malarin, and Louis Sampson in Gonzales. Another reason I think Louis might be Leland – I know that he lived in Gonzales.

Lulu's school merits in Gonzales, 1889

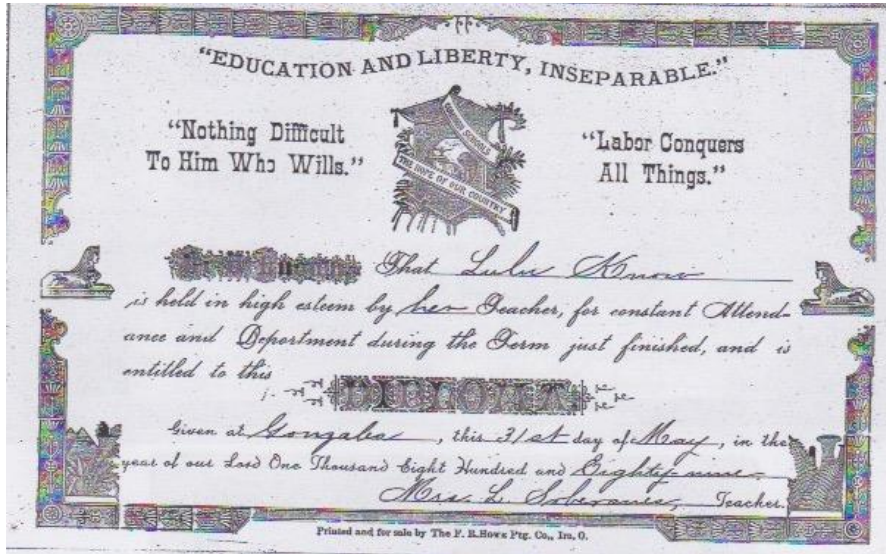

I have no idea when the family moved to Gonzales, or if maybe the kids moved to attend school, and William and Mary Frances didn't? Don't know, but Lulu received school merits in Gonzales in 1889, and had entries written by her siblings in her signature book from 1891 – 1893, with Gonzales written as their address or location.

This timeframe corresponds with Louis Sampson Know – if that is Leland – being listed as a voter in Gonzales in 1888.

The merit certificates were given from April – May, 1889.

Cards were on postcard weight paper. Issued in Gonzales, CA.

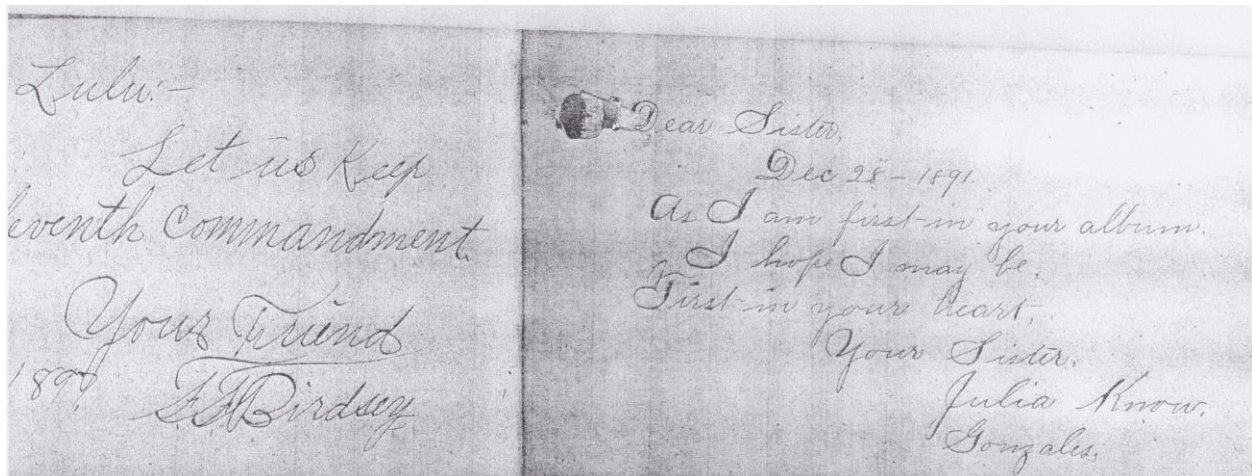

Lulu Josephine Noe Darling merits, Gonzales, Monterey, CA 1889

Lulu would have been 12 in 1889.

Lulu's signature book

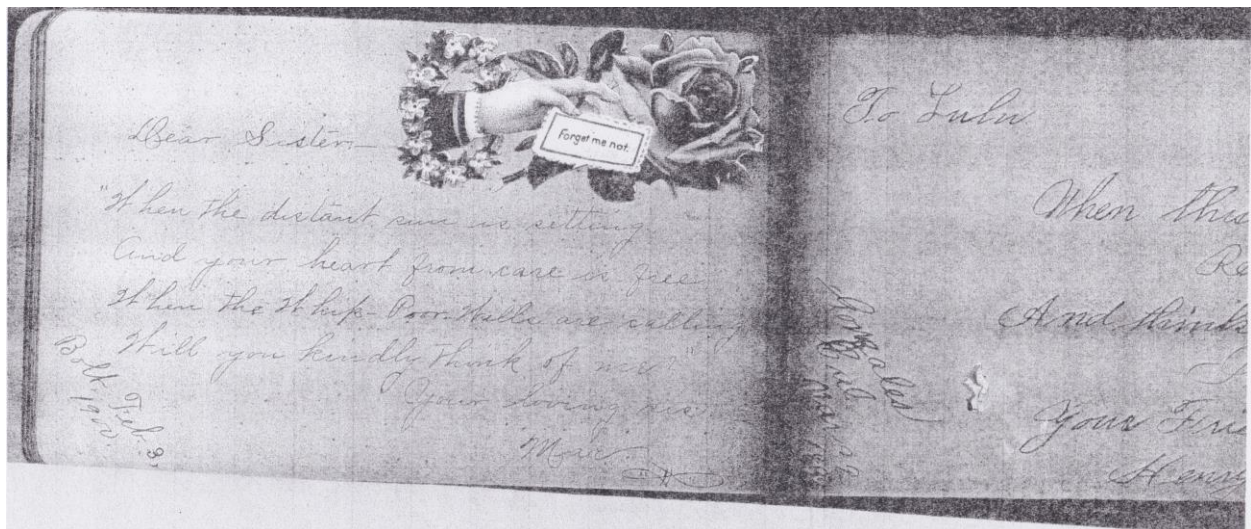

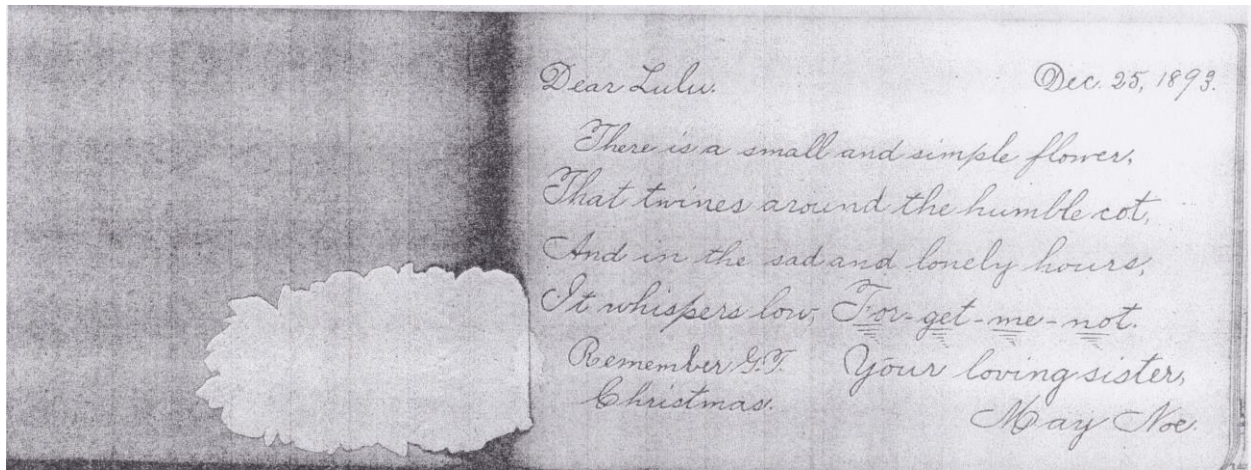

Sister Julia Ann Noe wrote the first entry in the book, dated Dec. 28, 1891, from Gonzales, Monterey, CA.

Leland S. David L. Noe, Lulu's brother, wrote in her book on Feb. 28, 1892, from Gonzales, Monterey, CA.

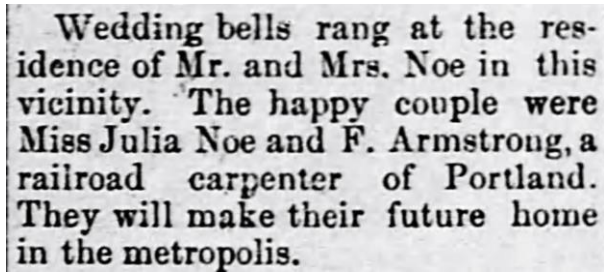

Mae wrote on her signature page, Bolt, Feb. 3, 1900. Bolt was the commonly used name for Footh Creek, Jackson, OR.

The last page that I have was dated Dec. 25, 1893.

Nita sent estate papers concerning John Noe's estate. John died in 1919. Apparently John was in ill health; he and his mother went to sister Lulu Noe Darling's ranch. Mary and John "brought with them to the said ranch....four cows, five heifers, one steer, three heifer calves, fourteen hens, one rooster, nine turkeys, one old hay mower, one old cream separator, one old saddle, three five gallon cream cans, one old cooking stove, one iron kettle, one old gun and one phonograph and some records, six old chairs, one dining room extension table, some cooking utensils and dishes, bedding and bedsteads." The court papers go on to say that after John died, Mary left all the livestock and personal property at the Darlings, saying she would retrieve it when she was able. Years passed. Critters died. Critters were born. The Darlings continued to take care of the livestock. Finally, the Darlings filed a lien upon the livestock for the expenses involved in taking care of them for several years. The Darlings also claimed that they paid $50 for taking John's body to the City of Medford, OR, and they paid $92.50 for a casket and hearse. They claimed that Mary Noe owed them $1834.08. She replied that they unlawfully exchanged her livestock, and used her livestock for their own purposes, etc. Mary claimed that he profited from milking her cows, for instance. That the cows reproduced, and they profited from the new calves. She also claimed that they used and wore out her personal possessions. Of course, when she enumerates the possessions, they aren't old, but of good quality. Even mentions a phonograph with more than 100 records. She is counterclaiming they used her possessions, and they owe her money. Ultimately, Mary was given the remainder of John's estate after his expenses were paid, which was $443.25.

After John's death, as per Nita's story, Mary moved in with her daughter Lulu and her husband, Ralph Darling.

Letter from Ida Mae Noe to her sister, Lulu, 8/11/1947

In this letter, Ida mentioned Lu (Lulu Josephine), Jack (John Monday) Betty/Molly (Mary Elizabeth), Ann (Julia Ann). It seems that Leland and Adeline were not mentioned.

Down Memory's Lane With You.

Two little girls played along the way.
One was Lu, the other Mae.

Down the lane and across the field.

If here grain grew to make its yield.
We gathered flowers as we skipped along,
And heard the lark sing their song,
Gay little flowers, pink and blue.
Baby blue-eyes and Spring Beauties too.

Home from school through wind and heat,
To the bread-box then, for a bite to eat.
Lucky we were, if Betty we found,
Baking cookies, rich and brown.
Jack loved sweets too; of course,
For he followed Betty, back and fourth,
As she baked the cookies with much care.
Knowing full well, he would get his share.

Then to our doll houses we would run.
To play with our dolls and have some fun.
Three little dolls spirits became.
They were full of mischief, but very game.
Their names were Jetty, Ray and Mert.
Many times they were shot, but never hurt.

Written by Leda May Mc Kenner's & mailed to her sister, Lulu Shoptine Mc Loring, Mailed from Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11, 1941.
Jetty, Ray, & Mert were their dolls (about 4" tall with china heads, hands & feet, or stuffed bodies)

Betty = Mary Elizabeth Mc Kenner, older sister of Lu & Mae

Then just listen, you were sure to hear it.
Speery very very erit, Spirit.

That pesky wood-box was the bane of our lives.
It had to be filled around about five.
The old gunny-sack, we would load to the hilt.
And gather the chips, so the fire could be built.
These chores were ours, and we had them to do.
So we tugged and we tugged, until they were three.
At last the wood in the box would be.
Then back to play 'neath the old oak tree.

No other oaks ever seemed so large,
As the live-oak trees that grew in our yard.
To a limb, the old rope swing was tied.
And we wouldn't give it up, till the old cat died.
We think I see us, playing still,
Up and down the little hill.
Around the "world" in the evening glow,
On our stick horses we would go.

A stroll in the pasture, oh: what a treat.
We loved the willows and clover sweet.
Along the trail, beside the old slough.
We often passed, where the Linger root grew.
The wild birds sang, early and late,

I am writing this, just to make you laugh,
but it is not to be included with the other.

Now Molly and Ann had their lovers gay.
A double wedding was planned one bright ^{day,} sunny day.
Molly in the carriage, was looking so pale.
When a cat backed up and sprinkled her veil.
But this checked not the wedding to be.
So away they dashed for the old hollow tree.
Inside, was the church, and the minister was ^{ready,} ready.
The couples walked in, feeling a little heady.
The rites were short, but sojourn there must ^{be,} be.
So we sang the "Texas Ranger" and "Sweet Ella Ree".

With dolls layed aside, a hunting we'd go.
With our wooden guns, that had string and bow.
Quite successful the hunt would be.
For we always killed game called Bull-dog-dee.
Each night a trip to the privy we made.
It was awful dark out there in the shade.
You never would wait until I was through.
But out the door, you suddenly flew.
Yelling old Brindy-Fair-Fay, as you run.
Now that headless old ghost wasn't any fun.

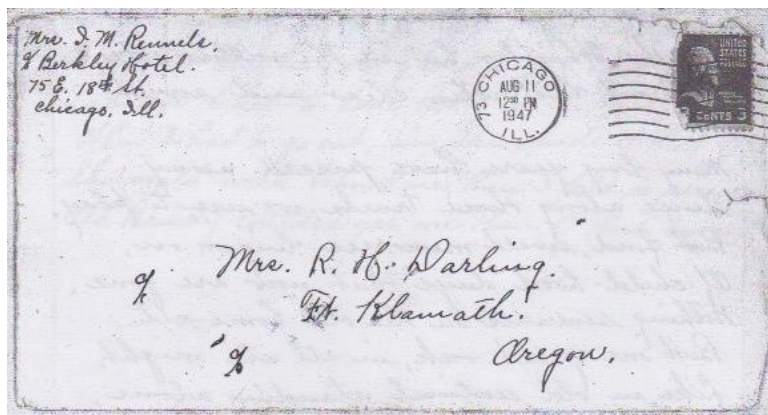

I was always mighty afraid of "haunts."
Off that hole I'd jump and near wet my pants.
(over)

I'd follow in your wake, letting out squeals,
With that headless old ghost right at my heels.
I always liked to have Betty with me.
When I had to go out, in the shade of that tree
She would walk behind me, then I felt so secure.
Old Brindy couldn't get me then, of that I was ^{sure,} sure.

The girls made up scary characters and stories during their playtime.
From written by Ida May Abe Bennett + mailed to sister Lu from Chicago, Ill.

Singing songs to their little mate.
 And the Whistler hid in the willows deep.
 Sent out his notes clear and sweet.

Many long years have passed away.
 Since along those trails, we use to play.
 But fond, sweet memories linger on,
 Of child-hood days, that now are gone.
 Nothing remains on the old home-site.
 But one great oak, in all its might,
 Like an old centinel, standing alone,
 Marking the place that was once our home.

Sons John Monday Noe, and Louis Sampson?? Noe (if that's indeed Leland S) are on the 1888 register. The 1888 register says that William registered in 1882, John in 1884, and Louis Sampson Know in 1888.

Notice that William is in Toro, John in Malarin, and Louis Sampson in Gonzales. Another reason I think Louis might be Leland – I know that he lived in Gonzales.

Noe John, $150 Gold Hill

GLENDALE ITEMS.

Mrs. F. C. Ladd, of the Glendale bakery, left last week to spend a month with her mother, Mrs. Mary Noe, at Gold Hill, while her brother, John Noe, is absent at Portland, having his eyes treated for the removal of cataracts. We all will miss Mrs. Ladd, and we hope her brother may return home with clear vision and in perfect health.

Mary Frances Chewning Noe, Adeline Noe Ladd, John Monday Noe, The News Review, 1.23.1918

Word received from John Noe, who left last Wednesday for Portland to have his eyes operated on, stated that it can not be done until they are treated a while, so he remains there possibly a month or two.

There's a FAG memorial created for John at Fort Klamath Cemetery, even though his death cert says he was buried at Rock Point, which is where his parents were buried. I've contacted the person who made the Fort Klamath memorial, to see what source was used, and received the information that FAG had ownership of the memorial, and that they couldn't do anything in terms of researching or explaining why "J" had made that memorial at Klamath.

Nita sent estate papers concerning John Noe's estate. John died in 1919. Apparently John was in ill health; he and his mother went to sister Lulu Noe Darling's ranch. Mary and John "brought with them to the said ranch....four cows, five heifers, one steer, three heifer calves, fourteen hens, one rooster, nine turkeys, one old hay mower, one old cream separator, one old saddle, three five gallon cream cans, one old cooking stove, one iron kettle, one old gun and one phonograph and some records, six old chairs, one dining room extension table, some cooking utensils and dishes, bedding and bedsteads." The court papers go on to say that after John died, Mary left all the livestock and personal property at the Darlings, saying she would retrieve it when she was able. Years passed. Critters died. Critters were born. The Darlings continued to take care of the livestock. Finally, the Darlings filed a lien upon the livestock for the expenses involved in taking care of them for several years. The Darlings also claimed that they paid $50 for taking John's body to the City of Medford, OR, and they paid $92.50 for a casket and hearse. They claimed that Mary Noe owed them $1834.08. She replied that they unlawfully exchanged her livestock, and used her livestock for their own purposes, etc. Mary claimed that he profited from milking her cows, for instance. That the cows reproduced, and they profited from the new calves. She also claimed that they used and wore out her personal possessions. Of course, when she enumerates the possessions, they aren't old, but of good quality. Even mentions a phonograph with more than 100 records. She is counterclaiming they used her possessions, and they owe her money. Ultimately, Mary was given the remainder of John's estate after his expenses were paid, which was $443.25.

Thomas vs. Darling
Order giving the defendant until June 19 to move, demur, answer or otherwise plead, was issued this morning by Judge Leavitt in the case of Bert C. Thomas as administrator of the estate of John M. Noe against R. L. Darling, in which it is sought to obtain damages approximating $6,000 from Darling for the alleged wrongful conversion to his own use of the personal property of the Noe estate.

1888 Voters Reg, Monterey County, CA

Sons John Monday Noe, and Louis Sampson?? Noe (if that's indeed Leland S) are on the 1888 register. The 1888 register says that William registered in 1882, John in 1884, and Louis Sampson Know in 1888.

Notice that William is in Toro, John in Malarin, and Louis Sampson in Gonzales. Another reason I think Louis might be Leland – I know that he lived in Gonzales.

GOLD HILL HAS CHRISTMAS FIGHT

Joe Shoemaker of Gold Hill is nursing a badly damaged face and Marshall Noe of the same city is facing discharge as the result of a mixup between them at Gold Hill Christmas night, during which several shots were fired.

The trouble started when Noe put Shoemaker under arrest. He resisted and wanted to fight, it is said. Noe then drew his gun and with its butt struck Shoemaker in the face. Shoemaker ran and Noe fired several shots into the air to check the man.

Shoemaker's friends are indignant stating that Noe shot, not into the air, but directly at Shoemaker intending to hit him.

When A Policeman is Not a Policeman---Why?

City Marshal L.S. Noe Answers Riddle
by Brutally Beating Prisoner

Empties Gun After Fugitive on Street

Noe Declines to Appear Against Prisoner--

Police Officer in Toils on Serious Assault Charge

An attempted arrest in which the city marshal of Gold Hill upheld the majesty of the law by beating Joe Shoemaker, of Galls Creek, across the jaw with a clubbed revolver, permitted his prisoner to escape and then emptied his gun at the fugitive during a stern chase down Front Street, constituted an official fiasco on Christmas night that reflects but little credit on law and order.

Inspired by Christmas "cheer", Shoemaker sought admittance to the dance hall where Marshall Noe officiated as doorkeeper, and was refused entrance. It is reported that words passed between the police officer and Shoemaker at this time, and the latter was ordered to make himself scarce. Upon his departure Marshal Noe followed him to the sidewalk, declared him under arrest, and without the slightest show of resistance being offered, brutally struck him with clubbed gun, cutting a vicious gash in his left cheek and sending his victim dazed and reeling into the mud of the street. With face streaming blood Shoemaker broke into a run down the street, the marshal in close pursuit. Here again the gun was brought into play, bystanders testifying that at least four or five shots were fired at the fugitive, with an indifferent aim that made the curious ones along the street dodged hastily indoors.

Shoemaker escaped across the bridge, but was brought back by friends, who overtook him. The character of the wound inflicted by the gun butt was such that it was feared his jaw had been broken, and he was immediately taken to the office of Dr. R.C. Kelsey, where the wound was examined and dressed. Although the injury was not so serious as supposed, the gaping wound upon his left cheek will afford a permanent scar of considerable area as a memento of the affair.

Following this, Shoemaker was left at liberty, with the understanding that he would be called upon to answer a charge of disorderly conduct the following morning. In the absence of Recorder Wetherell, Mayor Kelsey in his capacity as ex-officio police judge, required Marshall Noe to appear against Shoemaker, but was informed by the office that he had given his prisoner full liberty and had no charge to present against him.

Notwithstanding the fact that Marshal Noe "considerately" dropped that charge against him, Shoemaker has sworn out a warrant charging the Gold Hill peace officer with "assault with a dangerous weapon", and it is more than likely that the preliminary hearing will bind him over to the next term of circuit court.

That Marshal Noe did not succeed in shooting down the fugitive or in wounding any one of the innocent pedestrians may be credited more to luck than intent, while his refusal to appear the following morning against a character sufficiently desperate to warrant gun-play the previous night is a conclusive commentary on the trivial nature of the offense.

A number of reliable and unprejudiced citizens were witnesses to the affair, and unite in agreeing that the attack upon Shoemaker was not only unprovoked, but that in their capacity as citizens they stood ready to assist the marshal in making the arrest had their assistance been either necessary or desired.

Mayor Kelsey stated that while in his opinion Noe had far exceeded his authority as an officer, the council would decline to ask for his resignation or to take action in the matter unless requested to do so by a petition of the citizens.

Gold Hill is not a last stamping ground for wild west marshals or wild west methods. Its citizens demand a police administration that will safeguard the interests of the city without recourse to brutality or reckless gun play. Granting that either an excess of excitement or fear prompted Marshall Noe to so dangerously overstep the bounds of prudence and authority, the safety of the general public would seem to require that the council accept his resignation as soon as it can be conveniently proffered.

CITY MARSHAL IS ACCUSED

Gold Hill Peace Officer Charged With Assault With Weapon.

GOLD HILL, Or., Dec. 31.—(Special.)
—Held under $500 bonds to appear at the next term of Circuit Court at Jacksonville, L. S. Noe, city peace officer for Gold Hill, awaits trial on the charge of committing assault with a dangerous weapon while discharging his duties as Marshal.

On Christmas night Noe attempted the arrest of "Dode" Shoemaker, a Galls Creek rancher, who had contracted for more than his share of the holiday "good cheer," and was considered by the Marshall to be contributing to a disturbance of the public peace. Shoemaker refused arrest and was dealt a terrific blow on the right cheek by the Marshal, who employed the butt of his heavy service revolver. Dazed and bleeding, Shoemaker staggered into the mud of the thoroughfare and broke into a run. It is alleged that Noe pursued, firing four or five shots at the fugitive, who made his escape otherwise unscathed. Friends brought back the prisoner, who appeared the following morning to answer the complaint against him, only to be notified that Marshal Noe declined to appear against him.

Subsequently Shoemaker swore out a warrant for Noe's arrest on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and at the preliminary hearing the Marshal pleaded "not guilty," although waiving examination. From the evidence produced by the Prosecuting Attorney's office it was shown without denial that Shoemaker had not resisted arrest and that his hands were at his sides when the blow which laid open his cheek was struck. Prosecuting Attorney-elect E. E. Kelly bitterly arraigned the defendant in his concluding address, and upon the testimony submitted the court held him in $500 bond to await trial. Porter J.

Neff, a Medford attorney appeared for the defendant.

POLICE OFFICER IS BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT
Waive Examination At Hearing
Marshal of Gold Hill Wears Stare Pending
Trial on Serious Assault Charge

At a preliminary hearing before Judge Morelock on Saturday last, City Marshal L.S. Noe was bound over to the next term of circuit court in the sum of $500, charged with assault upon a person of "Dode" Shoemaker with a dangerous weapon. Noe entered a plea of not guilty, but waived examination.

The prosecution called as witnesses but a comparatively small number of the spectators of the affray, which occurred on Christmas night. At that time, following an altercation in the dance hall, Marshal Noe followed Shoemaker to the street and attempted his arrest, striking him with a revolver butt and severely cutting open his left cheek. Afterward, it is alleged, the marshal pursued his escaping prisoner down Front Street toward the river, firing a number of shots, and employing profane and abusive language.

J.L. Hammersly, the first witness called, was present at the first meeting of the two in the opera house. Heard the passage of words between them, and although considering them to be in a joking spirit, persuaded Shoemaker to leave the hall with him to avoid possible trouble. Saw Shoemaker a few moments afterward struck down by the marshal on the street, but did not see any act upon his part to warrant the blow. Witness saw the first shots fired, and testified that the spurt of flame from the muzzle appeared to be nearly or upon a level.

Miss Norah Newton, night operator at the Home Telephone company's office testified that she heard the sounds of the chase as it had past her station, and heard the shots fired. That immediately previous to the first shot she heard a profane threat shouted, apparently at the fugitive, and that she recognized the voice as that of Marshal Noe. Upon cross examination Miss Newton stated that she did not hear an explicit command to "halt" or "stop" and that the language employed was unprelaced by any such commands.

The testimony of Arthur Boggis corresponded with that given by his companion, Hammersly, the two having accompanied Shoemaker from the hall. He did not see Shoemaker offer resistance at anytime, but saw the marshal strike him down, and witnessed the firing of several shots at the fugitive. Upon cross examination by Attorney Neff, the witness declared that from the line of flame apparent, the gun could not have been greatly elevated, if at all.

J.H. Beeman testified that he was a bystander at the time of Shoemaker's exit from the hall, and saw the police officer draw his gun before assaulting him. That he did not see any show of resistance to the arrest, and that he plainly saw the direct flame from two of the shots fired at the fugitive and heard Marshal Noe threaten Shoemaker with profane-language.

Shoemaker was next called, and recounted his actions on the night in question admitting that he had been drinking freely, and might have been partially intoxicated at the time of the trouble. He denied having offered resistance to the officer in any manner, or to have had any suspicion of impending difficulties before the official gun butt connected with his jaw.

The prosecution then declined to call any more witnesses as it was understood that Marshal Noe would waive examination, which he accordingly did.

Prosecuting attorney-elect E.E. Kelly, scathingly arranged the defendant in his concluding address and summing up of testimony pointing out the dangers of misplaced official authority and asking that Noe be bound over to the next term of circuit court.

Judge Morelock fixed the amount of bail at $500, which was promptly provided and the defendant released from custody.

WARRANT OUT FOR JOE BEEMAN

Upon complaint of former chief of police Noe of Gold Hill, a warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Taylor Monday for the arrest of Joe H. Beeman of Gold Hill. Beeman is accused of perjury.

The complaint comes as the after-clap of the excitement at Gold Hill recently when Noe is said to have fired several shots at a runaway offender he had taken into custody for a misdemeanor. Beeman was a witness against Noe, the latter now swearing that Beeman perjured himself.

Perjury Charge is Growth of Police Assault Case

Upon complaint of chief of police Dave Noe, of this city, a warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Taylor, of Medford, for the arrest of J.H. Beeman, of this city. Mr. Beeman is accused of perjury, the charge being based upon the alleged affidavits of certain citizens whose names have not yet been made public.

The complaint originated in the notorious affair of last Christmas night, when the chief of police, in attempting the arrest of Dode Shoemaker, struck him in the face with his service revolver, cutting a deep gash. As Shoemaker fled, the officer fired several shots after him, declaring afterwards that the shots were not aimed to inflict injury but to frighten the fugitive into stopping. Mr. Beeman, among several others was summoned as a witness to the affair, when Chief Noe was arraigned upon the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. In every respect Mr. Beeman's testimony tallied with that of other witnesses, and his presence as a bystander has never been questioned until the perjury charge was unexpectedly sprung.

Mr. Beeman was released upon his own recognizance, to await the preliminary hearing, which was subsequently announced to have been "indefinitely postponed." It is understood that he will demand an early hearing upon the charge, of which he has no apprehensions. Various bystanders and witnesses will be called to testify to Mr. Beeman's presence at the affair, which is the point in question. It is the general belief he will be cleared of the charge, receiving complete vindication when the testimony is submitted.

Joe Beeman, ex-mayor of Gold Hill, who was recently arrested upon a complaint sworn to by former Chief of Police Noe of Gold Hill, charging perjury, was given his preliminary hearing before Justice Taylor Saturday afternoon and discharged, says the Medford Mail. Noe was recently discharged as marshall of Gold Hill after he was accused of shooting at a prisoner who had been arrested to get away. Beeman attempted to get away. Beeman was one of the witnesses against him. Noe declared Beeman perjured himself and had him arrested.

Beeman Freed of Perjury Charge

Failing to make good the perjury charge preferred by ex-city officer David Noe against J.H. Beeman, of this city, arraigned in Justice Taylor's court at Medford, Saturday afternoon last, the cost of the action were upon motion of prosecuting attorney, E.E. Kelly, assessed against the complainant.

The case, which occasioned great local interest, was the outgrowth of trouble which occurred on Christmas night, when Officer Noe attempted the arrest of Dode Shoemaker. As a result of the methods employed Noe, was subsequently given a hearing on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and bound-over to the grand jury. Governed by the failure of the complaining witness, Shoemaker, to appear the grand jury refused to indict. Mr. Beeman, who was present at the encounter, was summoned as a witness both in the original hearing and the rendering of evidence to the grand jury. Alleging that this witness was elsewhere at the time of the encounter, and in no wise a witness, Officer Noe instituted the perjury proceeding against Mr. Beeman.

At the hearing of the case on Saturday last several witnesses were called to testify to Mr. Beeman's presence elsewhere at the time of the affray, but as the testimony of others who witnessed the affair and conversed with Mr. Beeman at the time was conclusive as to his presence when Officer Noe attempted the arrest, the testimony of the contrary was construed to be of a mistaken nature and the case was summarily dismissed, the court completely exonerating Mr. Beeman of the charge.

So conclusive was the evidence, that upon the conclusion of the case the prosecuting attorney offered as a motion, which was adopted by the court, that the costs of the action be assessed against the complainant, Mr. Noe.

B.F. Mulkey, of Medford, served as a special prosecutor.

GOLD HILL RAID REVEALS STOLEN AUTO AND MOTOR

GOLD HILL, Or., March 14.—Excitement was rife in Gold Hill Monday afternoon following the arrest of L. S. Noe, a local second-hand dealer, former town marshal, and a man known here as "Bob Smith," residing with Noe. The men had been under suspicion for several months for larceny. The matter was brought to a climax when C. W. Martin of the California-Oregon Power company arrived here, in company with District Attorney Kelly and Deputy E. W. Wilson, with a search warrant, as the two men had been suspected of having some wire and other material belonging to the power company.

Stolen Ford Recovered

The search of the second-hand store and a residence belonging to Noe revealed the Ford car belonging to D. H. Miller, which was taken from the garage last November 3. The car had been almost entirely taken to pieces and the engine dismantled. Various parts of the machine were in different places, some being below a trap door in the floor. The body and hood have not yet been found.

As the numerous pieces were returned to the garage, D. H. Miller, the owner; Charles Kell, a local auto man, who had made several repairs upon the car and knew every piece, and R. H. Moore, kept identifying them. The car had evidently been driven to the hills when stolen and then dismantled.

A motor belonging to the Sleepy Hollow ranch, of which H. A. Ensign is manager, which was recently taken from the ranch, was also found.

Noe Tried to Escape

When the county officers arrived at the Noe home, "Bob Smith" locked himself in a room, armed, while L. S. "Dave" Noe tried to make an escape by jumping through a window and across the swinging bridge spanning Rogue river, south of town, and into the hills. But Deputy "Curly" Wilson was notified and followed in hot pursuit.

Several men here who saw the attempted flight, say Noe had a bundle under his arm, which he did not have when brought back by Wilson. It is suspected by some that it was a counterfeiting die and that he dropped it into the river, as he had also been thought to have even tried this.

In a search of Bob Smith, an agreement of sale was found, but which was signed Wm. D. Davenport, in what appears to be his handwriting. He made his first appearance in Gold Hill about the middle of September. The men were taken to Jacksonville and landed in the county jail. A more extensive search of the Noe place is to follow.

Copper wire and a motor from Sleepy Hollow ranch were found in their possession. All parts, except the body, of D. H. Miller's motorcar, stolen November 3, were found in their possession, besides numerous other stolen articles.

Smith jumped from a window on arrival of the Sheriff's party, and was pursued several blocks by Deputy Sheriff Wilson. He was found to be armed.

The men have been suspected of being the central figures in a larceny ring for some time, but no definite information against them has been obtainable.

GOLD HILL THIEVES HELD TO GRAND JURY

Dave Noe and Robert Smith, alias Davenport, were held to the grand jury by Justice of the Peace Glenn O. Taylor Tuesday in the sum of $2000 each. Unable to furnish bail bond, they were taken to the county jail. They are charged with having stolen an automobile belonging to D. H. Miller, of Gold Hill, together with a mile and a half of copper wire from the California-Oregon Power company and divers and sundry other thefts during the past six months.

Noe enacted the role of insane man with a degree of cleverness, but it was not wholly a success. He made a determined bluff, however.

Sheriff Singler, Deputy Wilson and Joe Beeman, the latter of Gold Hill, were the only witnesses.

NOE TO CONFESS ROBBERY DETAILS

Sheriff Singler and Deputy Wilson took David Noe, arrested a few days ago at Gold Hill, charged with having stolen an automobile and several other things, to Gold Hill today on his promise to show them where other parts of the auto were hidden. They found part of the machine on the day of Noe's arrest. Prosecuting Attorney Kelly accompanied them.

It is reported that Noe has promised to make a written confession of his evil deeds during the past several months. It may be that his willingness to locate his loot for the officers is the initial step toward a confession that may show extensive operations and possibly involve other people.

Leland S David L Noe, Medford Mail Tribune, 3.16.1916

David Noe named in this article as former Gold Hill marshal, second hand man, and thief:

Thieves Steal on Immense Scale

For several months residents of the Gold Hill neighborhood have been missing a widely variegated assortment of trinkets ranging from a few tons of copper wire, a blacksmith shop, a 300-pound anvil, finally to a complete nearly new Ford car. The residents who were relieved of the foregoing articles finally became slightly irritated and began an investigation which resulted in a raid upon the home of David Noe, a former Gold Hill marshal. The raid revealed the Ford carefully taken to pieces and stored beneath the floor, also the blacksmith equipment and a goodly amount of copper wire. The raid was made by Mr. Martin, Prosecuting Attorney E. E. Kelly, Sheriff Singler and Deputy Sheriff "Curly" Wilson.

The raid was a complete surprise to the wholesale thieves, being made just at the noon hour. Mr. Kelly guarded the front entrance and Deputy Wilson the back door, which opened into a small alley. The search was made on a warrant sworn to by Mr. Martin of the power company, charging Noe with the theft of copper wire. An electric motor was found and many other pieces of valuable machinery. Among the spoils was a good deal of copper, and the authorities believe they have found the vandals who relieved the Ashland mine of much valuable copper and destroyed several hundred dollars' worth of machinery.

When the sheriff and Martin entered the building Noe attempted to escape through a side window in the building into his neighbor's back yard, and being hidden from view by a high board fence, got three blocks away before being seen by Deputy Wilson. "Curly's" athletic training stood him in good stead, and after a hard sprint he captured Noe. Noe was armed with a 38-calibre revolver.

Smith, Noe's partner in crime, had hidden himself in a closet and was later arrested. The search revealed many parts of the Ford car stolen last November from Dave Miller of Gold Hill.

The men were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Taylor and were bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bonds and are now in the county jail. Noe pretended to be insane.

A further search of the premises and of Noe's second hand store disclosed a pit which the officers believed was used for counterfeiting and for burning insulation from wire. A large hook made from three-fourths inch gas pipe was also discovered, which when connected to a long handle made a giant hook about sixteen feet long. The men were believed to have used this to lower stolen wire to a pit in the bottom of Rogue river. Shipping receipts for 1,000 pounds of copper were found, and also many letters pertaining to the sale of the Ford and other machinery.

NOE BURNED AUTO BODY AND THREW REMAINS IN RIVER

David Noe and Bob Smith, charged with stealing D. H. Miller's automobile and with other thefts, sent for District Attorney Kelly yesterday and each made a confession of the theft of the car. The confessions of Noe and Smith also implicate others with petty stealing in junk.

According to the confession, the car was taken from Miller's garage in the night time, driven over Blackwell hill to Tolo, then down the river on the west side to a point midway between Gold Hill and Gold Ray. Here it was driven off the road in a chaparral thicket and covered with a chaparral thicket and covered with brush. Later it was dismantled, all the parts except the frame and body being loaded into a wagon and transported to Gold Hill. The body, it is claimed, was accidentally set on fire and burned and then thrown into a deep channel of Rogue river. Charred wood, burned parts of the car and a pile of brush amply corroborate this part of the story. Both are anxious to enter pleas of guilty when the grand jury is convened and will receive sentences for grand larceny.

Noe claims that he was led into the matter through fear of Smith, who, he claims, coerced him into the theft of the machine. On the other hand, Smith does not attempt to evade any responsibility for his part of the transaction.

The officers found too much evidence of a long-continued business of petty thieving to take much stock in Noe's story of undue influence, and he was advised that his case was not one for clemency.

FIVE INDICTMENTS FOR VARIOUS CRIMES BY GRAND JURY

The grand jury is today compiling its report on the county offices and their management, but whether it will be compiled and completed before the primary Friday is a question. It is not expected that the report will reveal anything of a startling nature, but certain candidates allow that it would be poor taste to release it for public consumption just before the ballot battle.

Five indictments were returned by the inquisitorial body Tuesday. Viola Stone, landlady of the Elwood rooming house on Main street, between Bartlett and Riverside, and Jane Doe were indicted upon a charge of conducting a house of ill fame. Mrs. Stone was recently arrested and fined for violation of the liquor laws.

Dave Noe, ex-marshal of Gold Hill, was indicted on a charge of stealing D. H. Miller's Ford, taking it apart and hiding it under the floor of his home. Indicted with Noe was Robert Smith, whose real name is William Davenport. The pair are alleged to have stolen nearly everything not nailed down in the neighborhood of Gold Hill.

Mary Elizabeth Betty Noe Cox

Daughter of William Perry and Mary Francis Chewning Noe

Granddaughter of Granville Washington and Mary Ann Hanvey Chewning

Mary or Betty, as I guess she was called, was on the 1880 census with her parents. Her 1900 census suggests she married between 1894 and 1896.

Double wedding

In 1947, Ida Mae Noe Roland Rennels wrote a letter to sister Lulu J. Noe Darling. In that letter, she mentioned that 'Molly and Ann' had a double wedding:

Now Molly and Ann had their lovers gay.
A double wedding was planned one bright ^{day} sunny day.
Molly in the carriage, was looking so pale.
When a cat backed up and sprinkled her veil.
But this checked not the wedding to be.
So away they dashed for the old hollow tree.
Inside, was the church, and the minister was ^{ready} ready.
The couples walked in, feeling a little heady.
The rites were short, but sojourn there must be.
So we sang the "Texas Ranger" and "Sweet Ella Ree".

There was other men using initials J.W. Cox in Shasta county at the same time. One of the 'other' Coxes was John Woodson Cox, married to Susie. He died in 1924. I found a small newspaper article saying Frank C. Ladd was a resident of Gold Hill in 1893.

F. C. LADD left last Saturday for Dunsuir, Calif., at which place he will accept a position as clerk in a merchantile establishment. Mr. Ladd has more friends in Medford than can well be enumerated and all will wish him success, but will feel better when the turn of the tide will bring him to Medford again.

Frank C Ladd, TheMedfordMail, 5.19.1893

F. C. LADD, the young man who last winter attended the Medford business college and who has since been employed in a mercantile establishment at Dunsmuir, returned to Medford Tuesday evening and Wednesday left for his ranch, up near Prospect. He has a fine sugar pine timber claim that will one day be worth a nice little lump of money—when we get that railroad. Mr. Ladd is a deucedly fine fellow and deserves all the good fortune that may happen his way.

E. A. CARTER, of Ashland, was doing

Frank C Ladd, The Medford Mail, 11.3.1893

F. C. LADD came up from Gold Hill Tuesday to buy supplies with which to stock his homestead larder at Prospect, whither he was enroute. Mr. Ladd, together with Rasmus Rasmusen and J. Wilson have been doing placer mining near Gold Hill for the past few months and have just made a clean up of a good liberal sprinkling of gold.

We next come to the home of F. C. Ladd. At the present time Mr. Ladd is busily engaged in clearing land, preparatory to setting out a prune and apple orchard, which he intends to do in the spring and says he is confident that fruit will do well in this locality.

Mines and Mining.

F. C. Ladd was up from his mine, near Gold Hill, last Saturday. Mr. Ladd, in company with E. N. Williams, is placer mining on the left fork of Sardine creek, about two and a half miles from its mouth. They have had plenty of water and by the use of their small giant they have made a very fair showing during the last couple of months. They are now making ready for a clean-up. Eighty acres embrace their mining possessions

Frank C Ladd, The Medford Mail, 5.3.1895

E. N. WILLIAMS, of Gold Hill, he who is interested with Frank Ladd in mining operations, was in Medford last week. These gentlemen have recently made a clean-up of their placer mine and while the amount of gold secured was not given, there was a pleased look upon Mr. Williams' face which indicated that it was better than good day's wages that they took out.

from business.

E. N. WILLIAMS, the happy man of mines and gold, of Gold Hill, was in Medford yesterday doing business. He has but recently returned from an extended visit to San Francisco and is now engaged in making a clean-up of his mine—which is promising big returns. His partner, F. C. Ladd, he states, is improving rapidly from the injuries sustained a few weeks ago.

F. C. LADD was down from Prospect last week. The gentleman is steadily improving in health and he figures that ere another year has been and gone he will be quite himself again and but a little worse for his unfortunate mining experience of sometime ago.

Frank Ladd is thinking of moving away soon. We regret this. Frank is the right people to have about.

can more are promised.

F. C. Ladd, one of the best and most honorable young men that ever anchored in Southern Oregon, came down from Prospect Tuesday and on Thursday left for Yreka, Calif., where he goes in quest of employment.

Frank C Ladd, The Medford Mail, 5.13.1898

F. C. Ladd came up from Yreka this week and will put in several months of his time on his homestead, near Prospect. Mr. Ladd has also filed upon a timber claim in that locality, proof notice of which appears in this issue of THE MAIL. Mr. Ladd has been engaged in running a large quartz mill near Yreka, but it has now shut down. Frank can't come this way too often to wear out his always warm welcome by his numerous friends.

Frank C Ladd, The Medford Mail, 2.9.1900

Joseph Buck, of Prospect, was in Medford Wednesday as a witness for Frank Ladd, in his homestead proof making.

Frank C Ladd, The Medford Mail, 4.27.1900

F. C. Ladd, formerly a resident of the upper Rogue river country, returned last week from Bohemia, Or., where he has been mining during the past winter. He will probably remain in Southern Oregon for sometime—and his many friends will be glad to hear this bit of news.

RACKET STORE.

—A few weeks ago these columns told that H. B. Nye had sold his Racket store to Messrs. Frank Ladd and Gilbert Olson. The sale was made all right and an account of stock had been made, but the stock was greater than Mr. Olson had figured it would be and was more than he could handle, financially, and he declared the deal off. It disconcerted Mr. Nye's plans somewhat but since returning from Montana he has placed orders for more goods and will conduct the business himself.

Playing the Same Game.

Glendale, Or., March 27.—To the Editor of The Journal—The Republicans can no longer contend that the Roosevelt and Taft policies are not identical. Teddy made his policies clear to the people in 1904, when he declared: "Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for, or accept another nomination," which statement he qualified in 1912 by the announcement: "I will accept the nomination if it is tendered me," which announcement he followed up with the war cry: "My hat is in the ring." Then the brave appears in full costume. In perfect harmony with the above mentioned, conflicting declarations, by Teddy, comes the statement from Taft at Alliance, Ohio, on March 8: "Therefore what we want is that quiet confidence that makes every one look after his own business and put as much money into it as he can. Then jobs will be many, wages will rise and we will all have money to buy shoes for our children." We all know that jobs are scarce, wages low and many of us do not have money with which to buy shoes, so from Taft's economic deductions we are forced to the conclusion that it is not altogether imagination that has been affecting the stomach of the producer for some time past, but with all work at a standstill and all of the money of the country in the "strong box" of the money trust, we are inclined to think there is considerable of reality in the "flip flap" of the worker's stomach on the vertebra, and, with the evidence on every hand, in an able of reality in the "flip flap" of the worker's stomach on the vertebra, and, with the evidence on every hand, in an unguarded moment, at Alliance, Ohio, Taft spoke the truth when he admitted the need of "confidence." The confidence that will keep the worker exerting every grain of energy at his command with that "quiet confidence" that does not permit of agitation or even question.

Three days after the Alliance speech, Taft found it necessary, so it is reported, to invoke the Roosevelt policies at Pittsburg, Pa., and contradict the former remarks by saying: "The optimistic faith in our institutions and confidence in one another is as strongly in evidence today as at any time in the history of the country."

Evidently, Mr. Taft understood that the Alliance people needed more "confidence dope," so he prescribed more "confidence" for them, but at Pittsburg, three days later, finding it necessary to reverse his Alliance statement, he was found to be as well equipped with the Roosevelt antidote for changed conditions as is Teddy himself, as is evidenced by the fact that the conditions that were black at Alliance had changed to pure white on Bill's arrival at Pittsburg. Teddy and Bill are playing the same game, under the same rules, and it is the same old game of "heads I win, tails you lose." When will the old shells get jarred to a realization of the fact that when the monkey gets through with the weighing, there is never anything left for the cats? F. C. LADD.

GLENDALE MAN SUES JUDGES OF ELECTION

Roseburg, Or. May 4.—Denied the privilege of voting at the election held in the city of Glendale on April 1, of this year, because he was not the owner of real estate, F. C. Ladd, a merchant of that city has filed suit in the circuit court against the three precinct judges, C. P. Totten, William Nail and D. N. Snyder, demanding $500 damages from each of them for the "humiliation" which, he says, he suffered. The complaint recites that the action of the judges was based on a provision of the city charter that no non-freeholder shall be eligible to vote at a city election. This provision, the complaint declares, directly contravenes the state constitution, which, as interpreted by the supreme court in a test case several years ago, gives a citizen the right to vote at a municipal election, whether he owns real estate or not. The court also held that the election judges would be amenable to actions for damages. Ladd is a socialist and was a candidate for office at the Glendale election.

IMPORTANT DAMAGE CASE.

Is Attracting Attention of Judge
Hamilton Today.

The case of F. C. Ladd vs. C. P. Totten, William Nail and D. N. Snyder, an action to recover damages in the sum of $500, is attracting the attention of a jury in the circuit court this afternoon. The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys J. D. Wurtzburger, of Grants Pass, and B. L. Eddy, of Roseburg. Attorneys Dexter Rice and George Neuner are looking after the interests of the defendants.

The case was originally brought by Ladd to recover damages in the sum of $500 as a result of the procedure of the election board, composed of the defendants, in refusing to allow him to vote at the recent city election held at Glendale. Ladd claims that the election board enforced the provisions of the property clause which is to the effect that only qualified voters holding real estate may vote at a city election. Ladd contends that the enforcement of such a clause is in direct violation of the constitution and consequently cannot be sustained by the courts.

The defendants claim that they acted according to law and thereby are not subject to pay damages. The case is being bitterly contested and it is not probable that it will reach a conclusion before late tomorrow.

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE ON VERDICT.

Celebrated Glendale Election Case
Attracts Unusual Attention.

After a deliberation of nearly seven hours the jury empanelled to listen to the evidence in the case of F. C. Ladd vs. C. P. Totten, William Nail and D. N. Snyder, informed Judge Hamilton that they were unable to agree shortly after 12 o'clock last night and were discharged.

Ladd brought the suit against Totten, Snyder and Nail to recover the sum of $500 in damages, together with attorney fees in a reasonable sum. Ladd claimed that the defendants, who were members of the election board at the recent city election held at Glendale, refused to allow him to vote for the reason that he failed to own real property. Ladd claimed that the "property clause", on which the defendants based their refusal, was unconstitutional and had so been held by the Oregon supreme court. He contended that he possessed all the qualifications of a voter, and consequently was entitled to damages. The defendants alleged that Ladd was not sincere, and on the contrary had made no effort to vote.

According to certain members of the jury the vote stood seven in favor of the defendants and five in favor of the plaintiff. It is said the case will be appealed to the supreme court for final disposition.

Ladd was represented by Attorneys Wurtsbaugh, of Grants Pass, and B. L. Eddy, of Roseburg. Attorneys Dexter Rice and George Neuner looked after the interests of the plaintiff.

For district attorney, E. L. Cannon, of Roseburg; for State Senator, S. E. Eakin, of Glendale; for Representatives, G. H. Church, of Roseburg, and F. C. Where the Responsibility Rests.

Glendale, Or., Oct. 11.—To the Editor of The Journal—On November 5 next, by the initiative and referendum, every elector in the state of Oregon is forced to render a juror's verdict on which will rest all the responsibility of a judgment for the taking of human life. If the elector votes against the repeal of the capital punishment law or fails to vote for the repeal of said law, he thereby sanctions and assumes the full measure of responsibility of every legal execution within the state during the time that the capital punishment law remains in force.

Through the right of franchise, the elector is forced to assume the responsibility of a free moral agent, whether he will or not, without the possibility of shifting his responsibility to the governor who signs the death warrant, the judge who pronounces sentence, the jury which convicts, the hangman who springs the trap or the attorney who prosecutes. There is no way, Mr. Elector, for you to evade the issue—you have, under the initiative and referendum, become the employer, with all the employer's responsibility, and governor, judge, jury, prosecuting attorney and hangman are but employes hired by you to perform the service, as directed by you at the ballot box, and on the shoulders of the elector will rest the responsibility of the combined acts of your official employes whom you have hired to send your fellow beings to the gallows.

If you will glance down the pages of history you will find the record of the execution of many innocent persons where the innocent have suffered for the guilty; and as long as we execute, we will be taking the lives of the innocent for the crimes of the guilty, as man has always been and probably always will be prone to err, and every elector who votes against the repeal or fails to vote on the bill for the repeal of the capital punishment law will be morally responsible for the taking of every innocent life that is sacrificed in the enforcement of the death penalty.

Under the old system, the responsibility did not rest on the individual elector, who had nothing directly to do with the enactment or enforcement of law, but under the present regime it is impossible for any elector to escape the responsibility for the effect of the law which he helps to place on the statute books of the state. Failure to vote against is equivalent to voting for. Never before were the electors of Oregon compelled to solve such a vital question as the repeal of the capital punishment law, and when the ballots cast on November 5 are counted we may be able to flash the news from the Pacific to the Atlantic that Oregon has taken one more step toward civilization by repealing her most barbaric law, capital punishment.

Double wedding

In 1947, Ida Mae Noe Roland Rennels wrote a letter to sister Lulu J. Noe Darling. In that letter, she mentioned that 'Molly and Ann' had a double wedding:

Now Molly and Ann had their lovers gay.
A double wedding was planned one bright ^{day} sunny day.
Molly in the carriage, was looking so pale.
When a cat backed up and sprinkled her veil.
But this checked not the wedding to be.
So away they dashed for the old hollow tree.
Inside, was the church, and the minister was ^{ready} ready.
The couples walked in, feeling a little heady.
The rites were short, but songs there must be.
So we sang the "Texas Ranger" and "Sweet Ella Ree".

Wedding bells rang at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Noe in this vicinity. The happy couple were Miss Julia Noe and F. Armstrong, a railroad carpenter of Portland. They will make their future home in the metropolis.

ORDER OF COURT

Be it Remembered, That on the 22nd day of November, 1924, Francis M. Armstrong, an applicant to become a citizen of the United States appeared in open Court before Honorable B. F. Rhodes, Judge of the County Court, the County of Marshall, State of Oregon, accompanied by Samuel L. Parrett, his witnesses, and thereupon the applicant and his witnesses were duly sworn and each examined in open Court before the Judge thereof, and the testimony of the applicant and each of his witnesses, so far as applicable, was then and there reduced to writing in the form of affidavits, and has now been entered of record in this proceeding. The Court finds that the said applicant was born in Canada, That he has resided in the United States continuously for more than five years last past, and within the State of Oregon during all of the year last past. That the applicant has (1) heretofore made declaration under oath of his intention to become a citizen of the United States (2) before J. H. Nelson County Clerk, an officer authorized to take such declarations, in the County of Marshall, State of Oregon, on the 13th day of May, 1921. (3) The applicant was born on the day of 1, and came to the United States in the year 1, and has resided within the United States ever since, and in the State of Oregon for more than one year last past. It has been bona fide his intention for more than two years to become a citizen of the United States, and he has declared that he will support the Constitution of the United States and renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly to of which he has heretofore been a subject. (4) That the applicant, during the time of his residence in the United States, has behaved as a man of good moral character. That he is attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same. That when the applicant was admitted to the United States, to-wit: on or about the day of December, 1879, he was not one of any class of aliens excluded from admission into the United States by the terms of "An Act to Regulate the Immigration of Aliens into the United States," approved March 3, 1903. He was not then an idiot, insane person or epileptic, nor a person who had been insane within the five years previous to his admission, nor was he a person who had had two or more attacks of insanity at any time. He was not then a pauper, professional beggar or a person likely to become a public charge. He was not then afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease. It also appears the applicant, prior to his admission, had not been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude. He was not then a polygamist, anarchist or a person who believed in or advocated the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all government or of all forms of law. He did not then believe in or advocate the assassination of public officials. It also appears the applicant has not at any time procured or attempted to bring into the United States any prostitute or women for the purpose of prostitution, (a) and that he was not at the date of his admission to the United States a person who had within one year prior thereto been deported as being under offers, solicitations, promises or agreements to perform labor or service of some kind within the United States, except *..... (b)

The Court further finds that the applicant does not disbelieve in, and is not now opposed to, all organized government. That he is not a member of, or affiliated with, any organization entertaining or teaching disbelief in, or opposition to, all organized government. That he does not advocate or teach the duty, necessity or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally of the Government of the United States, or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character.

The said applicant, now in open Court, declaring on oath that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly to the King of Great Britain and Ireland, of which he was before a subject or citizen, and having taken in the prescribed form his oath that he will support the Constitution of the United States of America,

Now, Therefore, It appearing that the applicant has in all things complied with and observed the laws regulating the naturalization of aliens, it is by the Court ADJUDGED, ORDERED and DECREED that the said applicant be, and he is hereby, admitted and declared to be A Citizen of the United States of America.

B. F. Rhodes Judge.

When the applicant was a minor, insert the word "not" at (1) and strike out the matter between (2) and (3) in both the Affidavit of Applicant and Order of Court. When the applicant is an adult and has already declared his intention, strike out the matter between (3) and (4) in both the Affidavit of Applicant and the Order of Court. If the applicant was an adult, strike out the matter between (5) and (6) in the Affidavits of Witnesses. *When the applicant was under contract or agreement at the time of admission insert the kind of service contracted for. If he was not under such contract or agreement strike out the matter between (a) and (b) in both the Affidavits of Applicant and the Order of Court. Professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession, or persons employed strictly as personal or domestic servants, are exempt from the provisions of the law.

Julia Ann Noe Armstrong, death cert

She's buried with Frank in Evergreen Memorial Park, McMinnville, Yamhill, OR.

Sister Adeline and her husband, Frank C. Ladd, are buried in the same cemetery.

Their only child was adopted, and I'm therefore not working on his line, but I did find these interesting articles concerning his death:

Body, Gun Found In Burned Home

McMINNVILLE (UPI) — The charred body of a man was found in a burned one-story house about two miles northwest of Dundee early today. Fire also destroyed a nearby nut dryer plant.

State police said the victim was Harry Armstrong, 64, who lived in the house and operated the plant. Sgt. Albert Cianni, who assisted the sheriff's office in the investigation, said a badly-burned .22 caliber rifle was found beside the body.

Sheriff W. L. Mekkers said indications were that fires at both the house and dryer had been set. The district attorney's office said an inquest may be ordered.

Armstrong's body was found in a bedroom of the home.

Authorities estimated damage to the house and dryer at $4,000. The dryer was located about 100 yards from the house.

Body Found in Ruins

NEWBERG (AP)— A 64-year-old man died Wednesday in a fire that consumed his home near here.

The body of Harry Armstrong of Dundee was found in the smoking ruins of his home a few miles southwest of here, after both his house and a walnut-drying building about 200 yards away had been destroyed by fire, sheriff's deputies said.

Firemen said it did not appear likely that the flames spread from one building to the other, since there was a heavy rainstorm at the time. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

A .22 caliber rifle was found across Armstrong's body, said Sheriff W. L. Mekkers. An autopsy will be performed, he said.

Man, 64, Dies in a House Fire

DUNDEE, Ore. (AP) — A 64-year-old man died in a fire that destroyed a walnut-drying building and a house here early Wednesday. This town is four miles northeast of Dayton.

Sheriff Wallace L. Mekkers said a post-mortem disclosed Harry Armstrong died from the heat that destroyed the Armstrong house.

The sheriff said the fire was discovered about 4 a.m. The flames destroyed both the house and the dryer, which was 200 yards away.

Firemen said it was unlikely the flames spread from one building to the other because of a heavy rainstorm at the time.

The sheriff said the cause of the fire was not determined.

Mekkers said a .22 caliber rifle was found across Armstrong's body. He said a discharged shell was in the gun, but no wound was found on the body.

The sheriff said he received a letter from Armstrong, listing his debts, but that the letter did not contain anything bearing on the death or the fires.

Letter from Ida Mae Noe Roland Rennels, to sister Lulu Josephine Noe Darling

Brother Jack, sister Betty (Mary Elizabeth) Julia Ann and Lulu are also mentioned.

Down Memory's Lane With You.

Two little girls played along the way.
One was Lu, The other Mae.
Down the lane and across the field.
Here grain grew to make its yield.
We gathered flowers as we skipped along,
And heard the larks sing their song.
Gay little flowers, pink and blue,
Baby blue-eyes and Spring Beauties too.

Home from school through wind and heat,
To the bread-box then, for a bite to eat.
Lucky we were, if Betty we found,
Baking cookies, rich and brown.
Jack loved sweets too; of course,
For he followed Betty, back and fourth,
As she baked the cookies with much care,
Knowing full well, he would get his share.

Then to our doll house we would run,
To play with our dolls and have some fun.
Three little dolls spirited became,
They were full of mischief, but very game.
Their names were Jetty, Ray and Mert,
Many times they were shot, but never hurt.

Written by Leda May Mae Kennels & marked to her sister, Lulu Josephine Mae Downing.
Marked from Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11, 1947.

Jetty, Ray, & Mert were their dolls (about 4" tall with china heads, hands & feet on stuffed bodies).

Betty = Mary Elizabeth Mae, older sister of Lu & Mae (Mae's 1st & 2nd names).

Then just listen, you were sure to hear it.
Speery very eery erit, Spirit.

That pecky wood-box was the bane of our lives.
It had to be filled around about five.
The old gunny-sack, we would load to the hilt.
And gather the chips, so the fire could be built.
These chores were ours, and we had them to do.
So we lugged and we tugged, until they were three.
At last the wood in the box would be.
Then back to play 'neath the old oak tree.

No other oaks ever seemed so large,
As the live-oak tree that grew in our yard.
To a limb, the old rope swing was tied.
And we wouldn't give it up, till the old cat died.
We think I see us, playing still,
Up and down the little hill.
Around the "world" in the evening glow,
On our stick horses we would go.

A stroll in the pasture, ah! what a treat.
We loved the willows and clover sweet.
Along the trail, beside the old slough.
We often passed, where the Linger-root grew.
The wild birds sang, early and late,

I am writing this, just to make you laugh,
but it is not to be included with the other.

Now Molly and Ann had their lovers gay.
A double wedding was planned one bright ^{day} sunny day.
Molly in the carriage, was looking so pale.
When a cat backed up and sprinkled her veil.
But this checked not the wedding to be.
So away they dashed for the old hollow tree.
Inside, was the church, and the minister was ^{ready} ready.
The couples walked in, feeling a little heady.
The rites were short, but songs there must be.
So we sang the "Texas Ranger" and "Sweet Ella Ree".

With dolls layed aside, a hunting we'd go.
With our wooden guns, that had string and bow.
Quite successful the hunt would be.
For we always killed game called Bull-dog-dee.
Each night a trip to the privy we made.
It was awful dark out there in the shade.
You never would wait until I was through.
But out the door, you suddenly flew.
Yelling old Brindy-Fair-Fay, as you run.
Now that headless old ghost wasn't any fun.

I was always mighty afraid of "haunts".
Off that hole I'd jump and near wet my pants.
(over)

The girls made up scary characters and stories during their playtime.
Been written by Ida May Nobe Rennels + marked to sister Luc from Chicago, Ill.

I'd follow in your wake, letting out squeals,
With that headless old ghost right at my heels.
I always liked to have Betty with me.

When I had to go out, in the shade of that tree:
She would walk behind me, then I felt so secure.
Old Brindy couldn't get me then, if that I was ^{sure}.

Singing songs to their little mate.
And the Whistler hid in the willows deep,
Sent out his notes clear and sweet.

Many long years have passed away,
Since along those trails, we used to play.
But fond, sweet memories linger on,
Of child-hood days, that now are gone.
Nothing remains on the old home-site,
But one great oak, in all its might,
Like an old sentinel, standing alone,
Marking the place that was once our home.

Letter from Ida Mae to sister, Lulu Josephine Noe Darling

Brother Jack (Leland), sister Betty/Molly (Mary Elizabeth), and sister Ann (Julia Ann) are also mentioned. It seems that Leland and Adeline were not mentioned.

Down Memorie's Lane With You.

Two little girls played along the way.
One was Lu, The other Mae.
Down the lane and across the field.
Here grain grew to make its yield.
We gathered flowers as we skipped along,
And heard the larks sing their song,
Gay little flowers, pink and blue,
Baby blue-eyes and Spring Beauties too.
Home from school through wind and heat,
To the bread-box then, for a bite to eat.
Lucky we were, if Betty we found,
Baking cookies, rich and brown.
Jack loved sweets too; of course,
For he followed Betty, back and fourth,
As she baked the cookies with much care,
Knowing full well, he would get his share.
Then to our doll houses we would run,
To play with our dolls and have some fun.
Three little dolls spirits became,
They were full of mischief, but very game.
Their names were Jetty, Ray and Mert,
Many times they were shot, but never hurt.

Written by Leda May We Kenners & mailed to her sister, Lulu Virginia We Kenners, from Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11, 1947.

Jetty, Ray, & Mert were their dolls (about 4" tall with china heads, hands & feet on stuffed bodies).

Betty = Mary Elizabeth We Kenners, older sister of Lu & Mae (Mae)

Then just listen, you were sure to hear it.
Speery very very erit, Spirit.

That pesky wood-box was the bane of our lives.
It had to be filled around about five.
The old gunny-sack, we would load to the hilt.
And gather the chips, so the fire could be built.
These chores were ours, and we had them to do.
So we tugged and we tugged, until they were three.
At last the wood in the box would be.
Then back to play 'neath the old oak tree.

No other oaks ever seemed so large,
As the live-oak trees that grew in our yard.
To a limb, the old rope swing was tied.
And we wouldn't give it up, till the old cat died.
We think I see us, playing still,
Up and down the little hill.
Around the "world" in the evening glow,
On our stick horses we would go.

A stroll in the pasture, oh: what a treat.
We loved the willows and clover sweet.
Along the trail, beside the old slough.
We often passed, where the Linger root grew.
The wild birds sang, early and late,

I am writing this, just to make you laugh,
but it is not to be included with the other.

Now Molly and Ann had their lovers gay.
A double wedding was planned one bright ^{day} sunny
Molly in the carriage, was looking so pale.
When a cat backed up and sprinkled her veil.
But this checked not the wedding to be.
So away they dashed for the old hollow tree.
Inside, was the church, and the minister ^{ready} was.
The couples walked in, feeling a little heady.
The rites were short, but so long there must be.
So we sang the "Texas Ranger" and "Sweet Ella Ree".

With dolls layed aside, a hunting we'd go.
With our wooden guns, that had string and bow.
Quite successful the hunt would be.
For we always killed game called Bull-dog-dee.
Each night a trip to the privy we made.
It was awful dark out there in the shade.
You never would wait until I was through.
But out the door, you suddenly flew.
Yelling old Brindy-Fair-Fay, as you run.
Now that headless old ghost wasn't any fun.

I was always mighty afraid of "haunts."
Off that hole I'd jump and near wet my pants.
(over)

The girls made up scary characters and stories during their playtime.
Been written by Ida May Noe Rennels + marked to sister Lu from Chicago, Ill.

Did follow in your wake, letting out squeals,
With that headless old ghost right at my heels.
I always liked to have Betty with me.

When I had to go out, in the shade of that tree
She would walk behind me, then I felt so secure,
Old Brindy couldn't get me then, of that I was ^{certain}.

Singing songs to their little mate.
And the Whistler hid in the willows deep.
Sent out his notes clear and sweet.

Many long years have passed away.
Since along those trails, we use to play.
But fond, sweet memories linger on,
Of child-hood days, that now are gone.
Nothing remains on the old home-site.
But one great oak, in all its might,
Like an old centinel, standing alone,
Marking the place that was once our home.

W.P. Noe Passes Away at Home of Son Near City

W.P. Noe, a well known and highly respected old time resident of this community, died at the home of his son John Noe, just east of this city, on

When a young man he emigrated to Nevada, where he was a participant in the pioneer activities of that restless territory. Something like sixteen years ago he came with his family to this section of southern Oregon, where they have since resided. He is survived by his wife, and seven children; Mrs. Mae Reynolds, of Portland, Mrs. F.C. Ladd of Glendale, Mrs. Ralph Darling, John and Dave Noe, of this city, Mrs. Wm. Cox of Shasta County, Calif., and Mrs. J.N. Armstrong, of Dundee. All but the two last named were present.
